

52nd LCA Discussion Forum

HOW TO INTEGRATE LCA COMMUNICATION IN INDUSTRY TO PROMOTE ITS USEFULNESS AND AVOID GREENWASHING

Tuesday, June 25, 2013, 9:00, Hotel Continental, Lausanne

We cordially invite you to the 52nd discussion forum on Life Cycle Assessment

The official language of this event is English

Scientific developments to support and improve accuracy of LCAs are continuously evolving. These developments not only yield increased knowledge and opportunities, but also a challenge to keep on top of the latest practices, methods, databases and tools on the market. Within this broad and complex field, there is a growing need for practitioners and industrial users to know (i) how to perform LCAs, (ii) how to apply LCA, and (iii) how to understand and challenge LCA results through critical assessment. This forum will provide an overview on why LCA can be difficult and confusing for industry, identify the current needs for LCA training at the company level, and identify the most critical and difficult issues to tackle. Examples of mistakes or unclear communication in public documents will be presented to point out the importance of maintaining criticism and the risk of conscious or unconscious greenwashing.

This discussion forum will address the following questions:

- What are the prerequisites for communicating LCA results, respecting the philosophy of ISO standards and avoiding risks of unconscious greenwashing?
- What is the role of public authorities and policy makers in the current increase of environmental communication and labeling?
- How to communicate simple messages and graphics based on complex LCA results and data, while avoiding miscommunication?

Additionally, practical feedback from large companies will help to confront theory with the economic and marketing constraints of the private economy.

We look forward to meeting you in Lausanne!
